

Within the action sites:

- How do we most effectively prioritize investments in drylands development to address diverse and nested constraints and opportunities?
- How do we nurture the emergence of globally relevant outputs from place-based research?
- How do we effectively incorporate local knowledge and perspectives with global scientific approaches and policy?
- How do we effectively work across public and private sectors to speed up innovations and scale out benefits?